

Jing Jing & Liuliu's Polaroid Photography Series, including the Girl Series, was created between 2016 and 2018, coinciding with a period of profound love and commitment between the two individuals, Jing Jing and Liuliu, culminating in their engagement.

As their journey progressed, Jing Jing's focus shifted towards independent filmmaking, leading to a gradual divergence in their paths and personal growth, ultimately resulting in their separation.

Representative of Chinese girls of their generation, the images within the Girl Series embody qualities such as beauty, strength, independence, confusion, deep love, and uncertainty, effectively capturing the spirit of the times. The Polaroid format used in this series holds great significance as it marks Luo Yang's initial venture into the market, making it a precious and rare collection.

Within these evocative images, Luo Yang masterfully encapsulates the essence of contemporary Chinese femininity, exploring the multifaceted nature of women's experiences. Through her lens, she delves into the complexities of love, self-identity, and the societal pressures faced by young women.

The Girl Series serves as a visual narrative that challenges societal conventions and offers a nuanced portrayal of the diverse realities experienced by Chinese girls. Luo Yang's adept use of the Polaroid medium adds an intimate and raw quality to the photographs, evoking an immediate emotional response from viewers.

As an emerging artist, Luo Yang demonstrates a keen ability to capture the vulnerability and strength of her subjects. Through her powerful visual storytelling, she invites us to contemplate broader societal issues surrounding gender, identity, and personal autonomy.

Overall, the Jing Jing & Liuliu Polaroid Photography Series, particularly the Girl Series and Youth Series, offers a compelling and introspective exploration of contemporary Chinese femininity. Luo Yang's unique perspective and artistic talent combine to create a visually striking and emotionally resonant body of work that leaves a lasting impression on the viewer.
